Ms. Diana Kabir is a consultant in NERA's Global Transfer Pricing Practice. She specializes in providing functional and economic analysis to multinational clients, with a focus on the financial services sector and the application of the OECD TP Guidelines.

Her experience encompasses a variety of industries, including financial services, agriculture, pharmaceutical, E-commerce and energy. She has provided planning and documentation support for large multinational companies, guidance to clients contemplating a bilateral APA in Australia after a restructuring, support in determining and documenting arm's length remuneration and interest rates and has executed valuation exercises for multinational enterprises (MNE). She works with these clients to create bespoke economic solutions to their problems and ensures all the supporting analysis and documentation meets the local filing regulations. Ms Kabir's expertise also involves her working alongside the European Tax Authorities in capability building and playing a pivotal part in the litigation of an oil and gas MNE.

Prior to joining NERA, Ms Kabir worked at the Australian Tax Office (ATO). She supported various projects and managed risk projects that impacted the strategic and operational outcomes of the ATO.
