Francisco Alvarez is a Consultant in NERA's Global Energy Practice based in Madrid. He specializes in the economics of energy markets and regulation, power market modelling, due diligence, and arbitration processes in the electricity and gas sectors in Spain. Mr. Álvarez has developed dispatch and price models for wholesale electricity markets. He has also participated in the due diligence of energy-regulated assets. More recently, Mr. Álvarez has advised electricity generators on bidding strategies for wholesale and ancillary markets, and has worked on several projects related to the remuneration of regulated activities and the estimation of the cost of capital.

Prior to joining NERA, Mr. Álvarez worked at the Competition and Markets Authority (CMA) in London. Previously, he was a research and teaching assistant at the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona and the Institut d'Anàlisi Econòmica (IAE), where he taught several courses on microeconomics, industrial organization, and econometrics. Mr. Álvarez received his MRes in economic analysis from the Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, and his BSc in economics, summa cum laude and ranked 1st, from the Universidad de Vigo.
