Biography

Patricio Suarez Urtaza is a Consultant in NERA's Regulatory Finance, International Arbitration, and Energy teams, based in London. Mr. Suarez Urtaza specializes in advising regulated utility companies through price control review processes and on various aspects of economic regulation.

Prior to joining NERA, Mr. Suarez Urtaza worked as a Specialist at the ifo Institute, the Leibniz Institute for Economic Research at the University of Munich, where he analyzed how air pollution is distributed across socioeconomic characteristics in Germany. Before that, he was a Senior Analyst at an economic consulting and strategy firm where he evaluated how the allocation of landing and take-off slots in an airport affected ticket prices and determined the drivers of success of a leading oil and gas exploration firm, amongst other projects.

Mr. Suarez Urtaza published an article on the importance of demography on economic growth and collaborated in a report on the economic impact of immigration in the US.
